Betty's Big Night

My friend Betty's husband died following six years of a terrible, debilitating disease during which Betty nursed him night and day. I would have thought she would be in some way relieved at the end of this burden but, no, she missed him constantly all the same. Her only relief was playing Bingo—which she loves with a passion.

I determined to take her to a game as soon as the memorial service was over, and she happily agreed. Betty is a big woman in body and in spirit, and she doesn't go unnoticed in the Bingo hall. Several people came over to speak to her, offering their condolences and support, but I began to wish they would just leave her alone to enjoy playing Bingo.

Right away it seemed to be a lucky day for Betty, as she won on the second game. "I think I'll get a few more Bonanzas," she said. "I'm feeling like this is my day to win big."

I bought us each three more Bonanzas and refused to let her reimburse me. "It's my contribution to your lucky day," I explained.

We were content, playing our cards and chatting amiably when three things happened all at once. First, the caller got taken with a terrible coughing fit and had to leave the podium, then another player close by had what I guessed was an epileptic seizure and had to be carted away, and third, a neighbor dropped all of her daubers and was frantically trying to pick them up.

"It's a very busy and interesting night," said Betty. "I'm sure glad we came." She smiled contentedly.

At intermission I treated us to coffee and a pecan roll—which we shared, and it was sinfully delicious.

The regular caller returned, looking a bit frazzled, but soon we were onto the Bonanza game. "I have a really good feeling about this one," said Betty. We each daubed frantically as the three extras kept us busy, when an "I'm on," came from Betty and we both breathed a little faster. Three more numbers went by when she erupted with "Bingo!"

There was a mistake on the card, however, but the winning number was in the monitor. "Now if nobody Binges, I've got it," smiled Betty. And again, she was lucky—nobody else claimed a win and she won the Bonanza jackpot.

"What a night. What a night!" she exclaimed happily as we prepared for the final blackout. "We only need one more win to declare a total victory."

"I sure would like to win one," I said. "I haven't even been on all night."

"Well, we'll just make this one come out right," said Betty. "I'll put all my energy into your winning."

Soon I was on and very excited. I started chanting the number I wished for, but to no avail. Someone else won and I was a little disappointed, but not much. After all, the whole evening had been to get Betty out and that we had accomplished with style!

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Are Robert De Niro and Al Pacino one-upping each other when it comes to daddy-ship? As we reported recently, De Niro had a seventh child this year at the age of 79, and now Pacino (83) has revealed he's having a child with his 29-year-old girlfriend Noor Alfallah, any day now.

Pacino's never been married, but has three children — the eldest, Julie Marie born in 1989, with acting coach Jan Tarrant. He also has twins, son Anton James and daughter Olivia Rose born in 2001, with actress Beverly D'Angelo.

George Clooney and Brad Pitt are teaming up again as the producers and stars of Wolves, playing two professional fixers hired for the same job. Pitt's also a producer of Beetlejuice 2, which began shooting May 18 in Hertfordshire, England, with Michael Keaton, Winona Ryder, Catherine O'Hara, Justin Theroux and Willem Dafoe. The film's slated for September 2024.

Johnny Depp received a 7-minute standing ovation in Cannes for his film Jeanne du Barry. Before you think all is forgiven after the brutal mudslinging abuse trial he and Amber Heard had in 2022, Depp is still a persona non grata in Hollywood, but has assumed the attitude of: "I don't feel boycotted by Hollywood because I don't think about Hollywood!" Nevertheless, a Hollywood distributor hasn't been found, so we may never get to see his new film.

QUESTIONS

1. On which album does Black Sabbath's "Iron Man" originally appear?
2. "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head" was penned for which 1969 film?
3. Who released "Baby Don't Forget My Number"?
4. What is Juice Newton's real first name?
5. Name the song that contains these lyrics: "Wednesday morning at five o'clock as the day begins, Silently closing her bedroom door."

ANSWERS

1. Their Paranoid album, released in 1970. It was their live version on the "Reunion" album in 2000 that netted them a Grammy for Best Metal Performance.
2. Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid. The song, which a few others had declined to record and which was generally disliked by those in the film, went on to become a massive hit.
3. Milli Vanilli, in 1988. It was discovered the following year that the duo was lip-syncing every song when the behind-the-scenes recording got stuck and started repeating a line during a live performance.
4. She was born Judith but in 1978 legally changed it to Juice.
5. "She's Leaving Home," by the Beatles, in 1967. The story, about a girl leaving home and not telling her parents, was taken loosely from a news story about a teen girl in London.

Casino Q&A

Near Misses

Q: Is it true that when payout symbols begin to appear just above or below the pay line a big payout is on the way?

A: You're describing the "near miss" feature. This is where you keep seeing winning symbols lined up just above or below the pay line or partially on the pay line, like 7-7 bar. Naturally, you think you just missed by a hair, and it's a sign that the next spin will do the trick. It won't. Winning symbols appear like this simply as a result of the computer's random selection process. But these "near misses" don't increase or decrease your likelihood of winning. They're just another spin, but one that tricks people into playing longer.

Q: I know when I'm in a casino that I'm being watched by the surveillance cameras in those black plastic bubbles in the ceiling. Do casinos have surveillance cameras in their hotel rooms and public restrooms?

A: No. That would be considered invasion of privacy, and no casino hotel would dare put cameras in their rooms. The "eye-in-the-sky" cameras serve only to single out and catch card counters, cheaters and to monitor the behavior of casino employees and customers

Q: If I'm a big winner and the casino wants to take my picture for promotional purposes, can I refuse?

A: In many jurisdictions, it's perfectly legal for a casino to take your picture and send it to publications for promo purposes. But many casinos will honor your request not to have your picture taken. However, should the casino insist on taking your picture before payment and you refuse, then you'll have to hire a lawyer to see what the law is in your state.

STORIES FROM THE REAL WORLD & CYBERSPACE

Senior Project: Bingo!

For her senior project, Grangeville, Ohio high schooler Tesslynn Beeson said she "wanted to do something that actually outwardly helped our community." With that in mind Beeson decided to head up Bingo nights at the senior center to raise funds and have fun at the same time. Tesslynn told Idaho Country Free Press that "Senior citizens have helped to shape our community, and I feel we do very little to help benefit them," she stated. All proceeds from the special Bingo events went to Meals on Wheels, the senior meal delivery service that works in conjunction with the senior center's nutrition program. "I really wanted to focus on a senior project that benefited the community and not just something within the school," Beeson said.

Bingo Tournament 2024 Announced

The cruise sets sail October 27th from New Orleans for a 7-day luxury cruise to Montego Bay, Grand Cayman and Cozumel, Mexico. More than $100,000 in cash plus a free cruise are in the offering, with early bird Bingo, special games and more. Q: I know that HBO's Succession got a lot of praise and will probably clean up at the Emmy's, but I enjoyed the show Billions much more. When does it return with new episodes? — M.F.

A: Showtime's Billions will return for its seventh and final season this August. Damian Lewis, who left the series at the end of season five, is back for several episodes, reuniting with cast members Paul Giamatti, Corey Stoll and Maggie Siff. Unlike Succession, which appears to be over for good with no announced spin-offs, Billions has several planned spin-off series in the works, including the tentatively titled Millions and Trillions. Paramount Pictures president and CEO Chris McCarthy stated, "This final season is packed full of the incredible, complex dialogue and character dynamics fans have come to love, and we are thrilled to partner with them on turning this hit series into a global franchise."

Billions will premiere first for subscribers of Paramount+ with Showtime on Friday, Aug. 11, before airing on Showtime on Sunday, Aug. 13.

BOB ON BINGO

By Bob Whittmore

The People Who Make Bingo Possible

Hi, again, everyone. I got an email at bingo@earthlink.net from Nicky in Palm Springs, California. Nicky says: "Hi, Bob, I have read your column every month since my Mom started bringing home The Bingo Bugle, when I was in grade school. Until a fire destroyed our house a year ago, she had every one of your columns. I wish you and my Mom could have met."

"She was the world's best Bingo player. She traveled over 250 miles a week in Southern California, playing at her favorite Bingo halls. I remember a conversation I had with her about the people who work at the halls. She had just read one of your columns in which you thanked all the people who worked at halls ... both charity and casino-type. In that column you also blasted halls for not telling callers who MUMBLE: 'YOU MUMBLE!'"

"You mentioned that you had been a radio newscaster all your life and that when you were behind the microphone you used a difference emphasis and a different reading-style on the air. You also noted that Bingo callers should remember that they were ON THE AIR. And, you said that if you have to look at the board to see what the last number called was, something was wrong.

"Bob, now to my point, my Mom also talked a lot about the fact that she felt you should have some kind of national award to reward a caller who does NOT mumble. I totally agree, so, Bob, here is my idea... and I know you have talked about this before. You need to have a CALLER OF THE YEAR contest. Think about it. Keep up the good work. —Nicky, Palm Springs."

So, here goes. I am doing this only as a function of BOB ON BINGO. This contest is not a part of the Bingo Bugle. It is MY contest. And, somehow, I will come up with a prize. I am responsible for this. So, I want you all to think of the one single person who makes Bingo happen in your area.

If you play at a casino-type operation, look for someone who is working his or her butt off, in spite of the fact the pay is low, the hours are tough and that person is there ALL day, in many halls, even when we are not.

If you play at a charity hall, remember that NO ONE is paid ANYTHING. The workers are volunteers. They are there for you. They put up with your demands for no compensation, other than the realization that they are helping the parochial school, or civic group or other cause for which they are volunteering.

Canada's Largest Casino Opens

Great Canadian Entertainment, the biggest casino company in Canada, opened its long-awaited $1 billion Casino Resort Toronto in late June. Casino Toronto is now not only the largest casino in Canada by far, but among the largest in North America, with 328,000-square-feet of gaming space hosting nearly 5,000 slot machines and 145 table games, plus a 400-room hotel, nine restaurants, numerous bars and lounges, and a 5,000-seat theater/concert venue. Great Canadian Entertainment also inked a deal with Live Nation, to live shows.

Art, Then a New York Casino?

If the owners of one of the largest undeveloped sites in Manhattan get their way, they could soon be building one of New York's first Vegas-style casinos near the United Nations. In the meantime, in a gesture of good will: Soloviev Group, the developer, is commissioning the artist Bruce Munro to install a light installation on the 6.7-acre site that will be free to the public and open for at least a year, starting in late September, the firm said. The art piece, "Field of Light," an arrangement of 17,000 flowerlike fiber optic stems, will be staked, mounted and lit up in a kaleidoscope of colors on a vacant stretch of First Avenue between East 38th and 41st Streets. The Soloviev Foundation, a charitable arm of the development firm, will cover the $1.5 million cost of installing and maintaining the display, said Michael Hershman, the chief executive of Soloviev Group. So begins the next stage of the campaign to win over a wary public, in a competition to secure one of three lucrative gambling licenses in the New York City area.

NC Approves Sports Betting

The governor of North Carolina, the ninth most populous state in the nation with 10.6 million residents, has signed legislation that allows betting on horse races and sporting events to begin as early as January 8, but could be delayed until mid-June 2024. The law allows for twelve online sports betting licensees and eight retail locations connected to racetracks, golf courses, arenas, and stadiums. The state is the 28th that will have online sports betting; race betting will be via separate licenses. Currently, North Carolina has three tribal casinos that accept in-person sports bets; the only other gambling allowed in the state is a lottery that was approved in 2006 and charity bingo.

$5 Million F1 Package, Anyone?

CarBuzz.com reports that Caesars is now offering an F1 room-food-and-beverage package for the Las Vegas Grand Prix at a cost of $5 million, a mere five times the previously highest-priced package at the Wynn. The "F1 Nobu Emperor" deal includes five nights at the Nobu Sky Villa in Nobu Hotel, the hotel-in-a-hotel at Caesars Palace, 12 paddock club tickets, two tickets to "Weekends with Adele," spa services for six, commissioning the artist Bruce Munro to install a light installation on the 6.7-acre site that will be free to the public and open for at least a year, starting in late September, the firm said. The art piece, "Field of Light," an arrangement of 17,000 flowerlike fiber optic stems, will be staked, mounted and lit up in a kaleidoscope of colors on a vacant stretch of First Avenue between East 38th and 41st Streets. The Soloviev Foundation, a charitable arm of the development firm, will cover the $1.5 million cost of installing and maintaining the display, said Michael Hershman, the chief executive of Soloviev Group. ### Sports Books Rattling on Players?

The NFL recently suspended five pro-football players for violating the league's anti-gambling policy. Three of the five bet on NFL games and were banned indefinitely; they can petition to be reinstated by the league after the end of next season. The other two were suspended for six games for betting from an NFL facility on other sporting events. It appears that a sports-betting platform or platforms alerted the league that the five players were violating the NFL Gambling Policy.

Final Flight by Eric C. Anderson

On a clear, cold night high above East Asia, a China Air passenger jet disappears from radar with all aboard. It's an anomaly, a fluke. And then a couple of hours later, it happens again.

It's 2023. Former Air Force maintenance officer Jason Montgomery and Rob "Ski" Kalawski have just landed the gig of their lives. China Air's aging fleet of Boeing 777s desperately needs navigation hardware and software upgrades. It's a multimillion-dollar contract, and they're just the guys to do it. Right? Wrong. Jason's just the middleman, but he finds himself trapped between yakuza gangsters, a tattooed dragon-lady sales exec and murderous Russian mobsters.

Global Superstars Ding and Cheung to Perform at Morongo

Guests will experience the world renowned vocals of Ding and Cheung at an exclusive Southern California show at the Morongo Casino Resort & Spa on Sunday, August 6.

MORONGO CASINO RESORT & SPA – Della Ding Dang and Aaryn Cheung, the internationally renowned Chinese performers, will share the stage at the Morongo Casino Resort & Spa on Sunday, August 6.

From an early age, Ding knew music was her passion. She began singing at smaller venues like cabarets to gain exposure before moving on to bars. In 2003, executives from Rock Records discovered Ding and signed her to the label.

In 2007, Ding released her first two singles, "Run Away From Home" and "Can or Not," which earned her the Top New Artist Award at the 2007 KKBOX Music Awards.

Since then, Ding has released nine more albums and has participated on the Chinese version of The Masked Singer.

Aaryn Cheung is a popular TV and film performer; his latest film about the adventures of two security guards seeking to retrieve stolen jewelry, "Everything Under Control," was released in early 2023.

"We are excited to welcome the international celebrities Della Ding and Aaryn Cheung to the Morongo Grand Ballroom for an exclusive Southern California show," said Simon Farmer, Executive Director of Marketing at Morongo. "Their performance will bring a new level of excitement for their fans."

Tickets are available through Ticketmaster for $98, $128, $148 and $188. Doors open at 4 p.m. and the show begins at 5 p.m. For information, visit morongocasinoresort.com.

Strange BUT TRUE

- ★ The largest volcano in the solar system is Olympus Mons, on Mars, standing at an impressive 13.6 miles high with a diameter of approximately 370 miles. That's nearly three times the height of Mt. Everest.
- ★ Lettuce is a member of the sunflower family.
- ★ Gennaro Pelliccia, a taster for Costa Coffee, had his tongue insured for $22 million.
- ★ To leave a party without telling anyone is called, in English, a "French exit." And in French? Appropriately enough, it's known as a "partir à l'anglaise," or, to leave like the English.
- ★ The rotund Buddha so commonly depicted in statues and pictures isn't at all an accurate representation. Instead, his real-life counterpart was actually quite thin, due to self-deprivation.
- ★ GPS may be free to use, but it still costs $2 million per day to operate. The funds are supplied by American tax revenue.
- ★ One of the World Trade Center towers was purposely built to a height of 1,776 feet to reference the year the Declaration of Independence was signed.

A Celebration of Laziness

Lazy is an ugly word. I prefer to call it selective participation. —Unknown

Welcome to Weod Monath, or Weed Month, as designated by Anglo-Saxons years ago. The Anglos believed that weeds and plants grow fastest at this time of the year, thus, the name. True or not, I did read that in August, bamboo can be seen with the naked eye growing at up to two inches an hour!

My personal adjective describing August is appalling because of the oppressive heat and humidity. It's also why I say God bless the inventor of air conditioners. Along those lines, I also say God bless whoever came up with National Lazy Day, August 10th, to celebrate doing nothing. Be a slug, sleep late; embrace nothingness with no plans to be anywhere or do anything. Turn the AC up and the phone off; be a couch potato; watch TV while gorging on snacks with no need to feel guilty because it's a holiday. I've read that occasionally being lazy reduces burnout and allows our bodies to recuperate from the stress of otherwise busy lives. I admit I'm lazy a lot, but I justify it by telling myself I'm old and need to rest. That's also my alibi when I don't want to help my husband with household chores. He believes everything I tell him. Yeah, right.

* Use the measuring cups when adding detergent to the washer. It avoids using too much, which can get costly. And it will avoid residual soap left in the fabric.

* If you use air-conditioning, use a programmable thermostat. You can set it to a higher temperature overnight, when it's naturally cooler, and have it cool down the house right about the time you'll get home, so there's no wasted energy cooling a house with no one in it.

* When putting woody-stem flowers, such as roses, in a vase, cut the stem diagonally and whack with a small mallet. It will absorb water much better this way. — A.R. in Mississippi

* Save small milk cartons and wash well. Fill with water and freeze. You can use these in your picnic basket for an easy cold pack to keep foods chilled.

* Too many suds in the sink? Try sprinkling them with salt. The foam will settle down quickly!

* Shower rings (the hooks that hold your shower curtain to the curtain bar) can be used for lots of things: I keep one in my sewing basket to hold safety pins. It's terrific, and the pins are orderly and easy to find. — E.L. in Utah

Moving on, I've been thinking about Lady Luck. Ancient Romans called her Fortuna and depicted her blindfolded to symbolize the randomness of chance. Fortuna doled out both good and bad luck without reason or prejudice. I suppose that's true if you believe in the concept of luck because occasionally, good luck follows bad luck or vice versa without rhyme or reason. Robert and I experienced this recently following a gambling jaunt to Vegas. We lost, then won, then lost, lost, lost. The video poker gods spat out one losing hand after another and emptied our pocketbooks faster than a hungry monkey can gobble a banana. We flew home regretting our monetary losses.

But, now looking back, we think that maybe Lady Luck heard our lamentations and took pity on us because of what happened next. I always leave a lottery scratcher at home to enjoy after I return from a gambling trip. The next morning, I began scratching my CashWord ticket and one word after another was revealed. The more words revealed, the more prize money; end result was eleven words out of fourteen, a win of $5,000. Thank you, Lady Luck, and just like that, Robert and I went from big losers to big winners. Now if I could win at bingo, I would believe my long losing streak to be over, but apparently, the bingo gods still hate me.

August 21st is National Senior Citizen Day. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 78 million people aged 65 and older will reside in America by 2035. This figure will surpass the number of the population under the age of 18 for the first time in our nation's history. Fun fact: more seniors live in Maine, Florida, and West Virginia than in any other states. Seriously, Maine?

Until next month, may Lady Luck blow you kisses as you dance out the door with dollars. Win big and take a cranky old senior citizen to bingo once in a while. You'll both be winners whether or not you get to yell bingo.

Can you eat eggs if you have a severe allergy to them? I ask this because my grandson vomited after eating scrambled eggs for the first time, so my daughter-in-law took him to four doctors until she found one who agreed with her that he had a severe allergic reaction. (The first three said he did not.) Since then, he has eaten baked foods with eggs in them without getting a reaction. — G.A.

ANSWER: Egg allergies are among the most common childhood food allergies, second only to cow's milk. Symptoms of a severe egg allergy can start within minutes of eating an egg product, with skin changes (flushing, itching or swelling) and problems with the airway (swelling of the throat or a change in voice). Not all people — whether they're adults or children — get skin changes, and gastrointestinal symptoms are also common. Although vomiting may occur, other symptoms (looking pale, lethargy or diarrhea) commonly occur.

A single episode of vomiting is not strong evidence of a food allergy. Blood and skin testing are sometimes used to evaluate whether an allergy is truly present.

More importantly, repeated exposure without symptoms is evidence against the diagnosis of a food allergy (although it is possible there was not enough egg in what your grandson ate to trigger a reaction). I strongly recommend a consultation with an allergist.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

Skin in the Game

Dear Aunt Bingo,

With the weather at its warmest this time of year I can understand why Bingo players want to dress comfortably in light blouses and shorts and sandals when they come to Bingo. But considering that two of the halls I play at are church Bingos, I have to say I have been very shocked on a number of occasions by the revealing clothing some female players have been wearing.

Several not-so-young women have shown up at Bingo with shorts and skirts that are so short they might as well have come in their underwear. But that is nothing compared to the ones who arrive bra-less with tops that leave very little to the imagination.

Bingo may not be the same as a religious service, but it is still held at a church! It seems to me that a degree of restraint is warranted in the clothing players wear.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

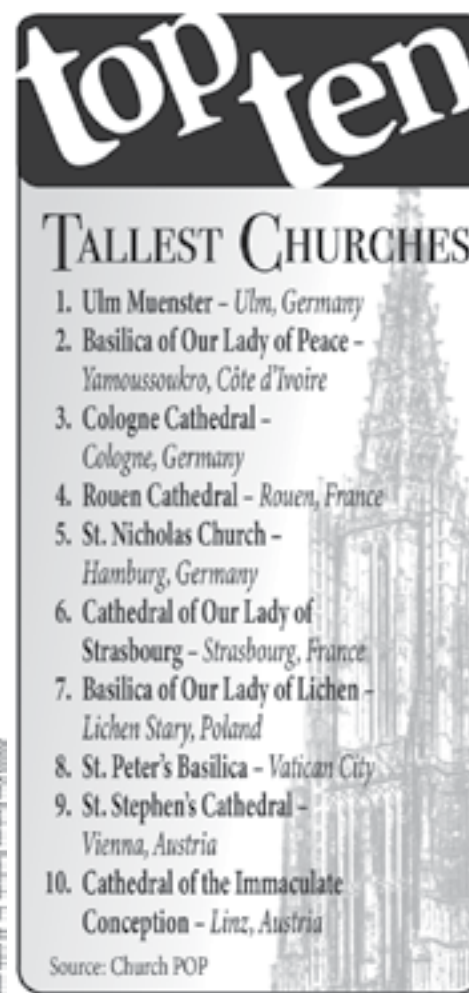

Dear CC,

To be honest, what you describe here isn't seen just in Bingo halls. Head to the grocery store, fast-food restaurant or just walk on the street and you will see more skin exposed in more revealing outfits than ever before.

I'm torn on this topic. I understand your desire for proper decorum, but we are talking about the human body. It's natural and made in God's image and likeness according to the beliefs of many. When did we decide it was shameful and needed to be strapped in and covered up? (Oh, right...when God banished Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden!)

In the end, I think this is a matter of to each her own. If these ladies come to Bingo dressed this way and are comfortable with it, who are we to judge? Light clothing is keeping them cool and relaxed—and sharp for Bingo. Perhaps it is their secret weapon. — Aunt Bingo

Cielo's Wine Cellar Honored for a Ninth Year

The opulent AAA Four-Diamond restaurant atop the 27-story Morongo Casino Resort & Spa has once-again earned national recognition for its distinguished wine selection and food pairings.

MORONGO CASINO RESORT & SPA – An exceptional selection of wines and thematic pairings with gourmet cuisine have earned fresh honors for Cielo, the AAA Four-Diamond restaurant at the Morongo Casino Resort & Spa.

Rediscover the Forgotten King of Carbs: Mouthwatering Stuffed Baked Potatoes

Remember stuffed baked potatoes? I was discussing food with some friends, and none of us could recall the last time we had stuffed baked potatoes. We've been so occupied with quinoa and cauliflower rice that we overlooked the King of Carbs — good carbs, of course.

The humble potato is underrated. It's a low-fat, low-cholesterol source of carbs and protein, packed with vitamin C, vitamin B6, iron, calcium and more potassium than a banana. The bad reputation comes from typical toppings, like copious amounts of butter, sour cream and bacon.

I suggest adding baked potato night to your meal rotation. They're a versatile canvas for any topping you can imagine, and of course, they're budget friendly, because that's how I roll.

Before topping, we must bake the potatoes. Crispy skin and fluffy insides are achieved with russet potatoes. Here's how to bake them perfectly:

For oven baking, preheat to 400 F. Thoroughly wash the potatoes, poke them with a knife to release steam (to avoid explosions), and rub them with olive oil and salt. Place experiences to our guests by creating exquisite pairings that perfectly fuse our distinguished wine list with our distinctive bill of fare."

Cielo offers a carefully selected wine list that features boutique vintners from Napa Valley to the Pacific coasts of North and South America and Australia. Notable vintners on the list include Jordan, Freemark Abbey, Opus One, Silver Oak, and Caymus, to name a few.

Set atop Morongo's 27-story tower – the tallest building in Riverside County – Cielo is known for spectacular views of the surrounding mountains and gourmet meals from a menu that features classic steakhouse fare and delectable seafood specialties.

Cielo's other awards include a AAA Four-Diamond rating, a Top 10 Palm Springs-area steakhouse rating from Gayot, and OpenTable Diner's Choice awards for scenic views, special occasion meals and romantic dining.

directly on the upper oven rack with a baking sheet below. Bake for 45 minutes to an hour, until a knife easily pierces the potato.

For microwave cooking, poke, oil and salt the potatoes. Place them on a microwave-safe plate and cook for 5 minutes. Flip and cook for another 5 minutes. Repeat until cooked through.

If time is limited, start in the microwave and finish in the oven for 20 minutes.

Now, here's a dinner recipe: Inside-out Shepard's Pie. It's a complete, quick and easy meal. Instead of the traditional casserole, we place the filling on a baked potato. That's much simpler than mashing potatoes.

INSIDE-OUT SHEPARD'S PIE

Yield: 4 servings

Time: 1 hour

- 4 baking potatoes
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1 cup onion, chopped
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste
- 1 to 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, to taste
- 1 (14.5 ounce) can (1 1/2 cups) beef broth
- 1 (14.75 ounce) can creamed corn
- 1 (12 ounce) bag frozen mixed vegetables, thawed
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Cook the potatoes using your preferred method.

Meanwhile, in a skillet, on medium-high heat, brown the ground beef until mostly cooked; drain excess fat. Add the onion, garlic, salt and pepper to taste. When the beef is cooked, add the tomato paste, Worcestershire and broth, stirring to combine. Add your corn and veggies, and let this mixture simmer until the potatoes are cooked. It's going to be saucy. Adjust seasoning to taste. When the potatoes are cooked, place them close together in a pie plate or baking dish. Cut them open partway, fluff the insides and spoon the filling inside the potatoes. Divide the cheese between the stuffed spuds and return to the oven or microwave to melt the cheese. Serve with a salad, and dinner is done.

Strong El Niño predicted

Climate scientists at NOAA are now warning there is now a 90% chance of an El Niño weather pattern taking hold through the end of this year and the first months of 2024. And they are warning it could be a strong one.

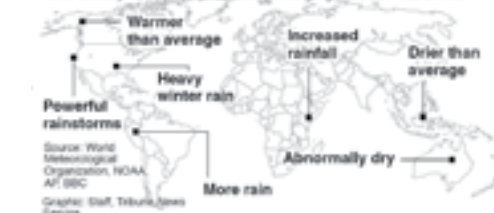

What is an El Niño

- 1 Deep, cold water flows west across Pacific
- 2 Unusually warm surface waters from the Pacific flow toward South America
- 3 Trade winds that normally blow toward equator die

What could happen

Every few years, the winds shift and the water in the Pacific Ocean gets warmer than usual. El Niño changes rain patterns and usually raises temperatures, changing weather worldwide.

Here are two more great flavor combinations for inspiration:

Pizza Stuffed Potato: Scoop the insides out of four baked potatoes. Mash with pizza sauce and shredded mozzarella, and stuff back into the skins. Top with sliced pepperoni, more mozzarella and Parmesan, and broil to melt.

Broccoli, Ham and Swiss: Scoop the insides out of four baked potatoes. Mash with butter, add diced ham, shredded Swiss cheese and steamed broccoli. Stuff into the skins, top with more cheese and broil to melt.

I hope this inspires you to pick up some potatoes next time you shop. As a wise person once said: "Potatoes give us french fries, potato chips and vodka. It's like the other vegetables aren't even trying."

Book Review: Arnold Snyder Strikes Again

There are plenty of good books that cover basic strategy and card counting for blackjack players; Arnold Snyder in fact, wrote some of them. His latest book, however, is, well, “radical.” I don’t mean this in a negative sense; on the contrary, this book is loaded with “eye-popping information and stories” about advanced playing techniques used by Snyder, and some of the world’s most successful blackjack players, to beat the casinos at their own game. As Blackjack Hall of Famer Don Schlesinger succinctly put it, “Arnold Snyder has decided not to hold back and publish information that has heretofore never been made public.”

I was a young and relatively new card counter in 1981, trying to learn everything I could about the game of blackjack. Somewhere I read about a new quarterly publication called Blackjack Forum, so I mailed in a check for a subscription and eagerly awaited the delivery of my first copy. I remember my surprise when I discovered that Arnold Snyder, who was the writer and publisher of Blackjack Forum, was working the night shift at the post office sorting mail. To put it bluntly, I found it “radical” to be reading information about “how to win at blackjack” from a post office employee. However, as you’ll discover from reading his tell-all book, Snyder quit his job at the post office, scraped together a meager bankroll, and tried to make it as a professional blackjack player.

To say he succeeded is an understatement. His high-stakes assault on casinos, using advanced techniques that transcend card counting, is legendary. His books, the printed quarterly Blackjack Forum, and blackjackforumonline.com website have helped countless numbers of individuals become successful card counters (including yours truly); and his selection in 2002 as one of only seven charter members inducted into the Blackjack Hall of Fame was a well-deserved honor.

What sets this book apart from other blackjack books are Snyder’s real-life stories of how he was able to play for high stakes using several different advanced techniques while being closely watched by casino personnel. He not only reveals the techniques he used but also explains how they work in great detail: shuffle tracking, hole carding, edge sorting, front loading, and card-steering. In my opinion, the best-of-the-best sections of the book are his partner-play with his wife, Radar, the comprehensive treatment on loss-rebates, and his playing experiences using shuffle tracking (solo, and with Radar).

Snyder meticulously explains the camouflage techniques he and Radar used that befuddled pit bosses and casino surveillance while they were playing for high stakes and extracting millions of dollars from casinos and being given the high-roller treatment from casino bosses and hosts with outrageous favors. (It not only included comped casino suites, free transportation, gourmet meals, and invitations to the Super Bowl, to name just a few, but also unbelievable playing-condition benefits that he asked for and received, such as a hand-shuffled game rather than one using a continuous shuffling machine.)

The latter chapters contain Snyder’s comments, views, and enthralling stories of some of the world’s most successful gamblers including James Grosjean, Richard Munchkin, Lawrence Revere, Al Francesco, Ken Uston, Stanford Wong, Bill Benter, Darryl Purpose, Wally Simmons, Anthony Curtis, and others. Even if you don’t recognize some of the names, the stories that Snyder tells about them are fascinating. He also included a story about how I indirectly saved Tommy Hyland’s blackjack team members from prison. (You’ll have to read the book to find out how this happened.)

You can rest assured that the statistics and percentages quoted by Snyder in the book are accurate because two of the leading blackjack math experts, Blackjack Hall of Fame members Don Schlesinger and James Grosjean, reviewed the manuscript before its publication.

Lastly, and most importantly, this book will give you a “feel” for what it takes to be a professional gambler earning money in casinos. You’ll read what it’s like betting six simultaneous hands of $1,000 using powerful advantage-play techniques while being watched by casino bosses and surveillance, and I guarantee you’ll enjoy reading the positively written, inside stories and secrets from some of the world’s most successful gamblers.

This book is, after all, a professional gambling memoir, but unlike any other book that I have read on blackjack, I highly recommend it to all blackjack aficionados, but especially to card counters who want to elevate their game to a higher level.

Lucky Lotto News

Student Turns 18 Then Wins Millions

Talk about beginner’s luck! Eighteen-year-old student Juliette Lamour won a jackpot worth $48 million Canadian dollars on her first time playing the lottery, and she has a family member to thank for encouraging her to buy the ticket. Juliette, of Sault Ste. Marie, told lottery officials that after her milestone birthday “my grandfather suggested I buy a lottery ticket for fun.” In fact, she was so new to the experience that she “wasn’t sure what to ask for.” But after buying her LOTTO 6/49 ticket, Juliette told lottery officials that she forgot all about it, until she heard that there had been a winner—and the ticket had been purchased in her city. The university student said she was at work at the time and that a co-worker checked on the ticket for her. “My colleague fell to his knees in disbelief. He was yelling, in fact everyone was yelling that I won $48 million!” she recalled. “I didn’t understand what was going on at first. I couldn’t process this news.” When she called home to tell her parents, Juliette was crying so many “happy tears” that her mom “couldn’t understand what was going on.” And while her boss wanted to give her the rest of the day off, she says her mom “wanted me to stay and finish my shift!” In the end, the university student even became the youngest person in Canadian lottery history to win such a large jackpot, officials said in a press release. As for what she plans on doing with her winnings, Juliette says the money will go towards her dream of becoming a doctor. She also says her dad, who’s a financial planner, will help her invest the money. “While I am so excited about the opportunities that lie ahead, I feel comforted knowing I am surrounded by the grounding love of my family,” she said. “They will be with me on every step of this incredible journey.”

Colorado Winner Won’t Change Much

Lottery winner Bill Stout said he has no plans to make big changes after winning $3.8 million from a recent $2 Quick Pick ticket in the Colorado Lotto+ game. When word got out in Carbondale, where Stout has lived for the past 15 years, he said people started asking him about his plans for the money. “I have a very simple life,” he explained, adding that at least a dozen people asked has asked if he was buying a new car. “No, I’m not changing a thing,” he told them, adding that he’s very happy with his low-mileage, four-year-old Subaru. “Honestly, I know this sounds weird, or silly, but I really have no aspirations to change things. Maybe this would be different if I were 25 or 35,” Stout said about becoming an instant millionaire and the temptation to make life changes that a sudden, small fortune brings. The 68-year-old retired trauma nurse said he played the lottery a little bit each week. “I’ll blow six or eight dollars,” he said, if the jackpot gets big. When he checked his phone the night of the drawing, Stout said, he didn’t believe his numbers — 5-13-14-16-30-33 — had won. So, he drove to the City Market to have it checked again. When his win was confirmed, the staff, who Stout said, have sold him tickets for years, started “shrieking and taking video.” He did say he may “hop on a train” to visit the Grand Canyon. Until then, Stout’s plan is to stay at his one-bed apartment in downtown Carbondale and continue hiking—all day trips up Mt. Sopris are a favorite—and keep everything else the same. “I can’t ask for anything more,” Stout said.

Horoscopes for August 2023

ARIES (MAR 21-APR 20): Zero in on one annoying issue in your environment (probably something you’ve procrastinated about), then systematically take it on. This month it’s the pragmatic, bit-by-bit approach that wins out. There’s not much room for magical thinking but plenty of space for strategizing a win.

Lucky Days: 10 - 30
Lucky Numbers: 9 - 13

TAURUS (APR 21-MAY 21): It’s time to ask and receive. But you need to formulate a precise ask. August highlights your gift for management and execution—no one can exercise control quite like you. Levity and joy are rekindled on the new Moon on the 16th. Your optimism attracts opportunities for creative partnerships.

Lucky Days: 24 - 26
Lucky Numbers: 3 - 14

GEMINI (MAY 21 -JUN 21): The desire to acquire new knowledge about a subject you’ve flirted with in the past becomes pronounced in August. If you’ve entertained ideas of showing your art, publishing your work, or networking in the business world, the new Moon on the 16th is a great time to start—your ability to multitask guarantees success.

Lucky Days: 8 - 14
Lucky Numbers: 8 - 56

CANCER (JUN 22-JUL 22): Time for a makeover on the home front. Round up new plants (or buy some if your home is green-less). Purchase art for your walls or rearrange your existing collection. Convert your home into something more than a place to crash. Opportunities arise when your home becomes a hub that enlivens you and the close associates in your world.

Lucky Days: 3 - 17
Lucky Numbers: 2 - 19

LEO (JUL 23-AUG 23): You’re a hard worker (once you commit to what enthuses you), and you’ve developed some keen new skill sets; the new Moon on the 16th is the perfect time to display them. People look to you for creative inspiration. Step out of your comfort zone. Commit to your birthright—your ability to shine.

Lucky Days: 8 - 29
Lucky Numbers: 5 - 55

VIRGO (AUG 24-SEP 23): The key to your success relates to the art of specialization. The attention to detail also boosts your potential to magnetize luck. People are impressed with your ability to turn the ordinary into something noteworthy. Put yourself in a place where this skill is valued and rewarded.

Lucky Days: 9 - 18
Lucky Numbers: 4 - 43

LIBRA (SEP 24-OCT 23): To boost your enthusiasm, you need something to oppose. In doing so, you’re able to see more clearly what it is exactly you want to achieve. Your skill set involves your keen strategic abilities. Bring those to the fore, and you’ll move far during the rest of the year.

Lucky Days: 7 - 21
Lucky Numbers: 7 - 17

SCORPIO (OCT 24-NOV 22): Feeling indecisive about your path forward? Let go of the: “What will other people say if I do this or that?” quandary. Comparison to the status quo won’t serve you now. The remainder of the year requires that you face what’s hidden or withheld from your conscious mind and embrace it.

Lucky Days: 5 - 12
Lucky Numbers: 19 - 54

SAGITTARIUS (NOV 23-DEC 21): Your sign is linked to philosophical or spiritual ideals that evolve into serious, committed pursuits. This month your intellect is preparing to move beyond everyday knowledge and into deeper wisdom. The search for meaning and purpose is officially on. Permit yourself to think freely.

Lucky Days: 8 - 16
Lucky Numbers: 7 - 49

Relatives’ Recipes

Dear Ask Annie,

When I was just a kid, my Mother use to make beer biscuits. She has since passed away and now I am old enough to try to make some beer biscuits. Do you know where I can find a recipe for beer biscuits? I am hoping to surprise my husband with this recipe.

—JoAnne from Tennessee

Dear JoAnne,

I found a recipe for beer biscuits. I hope it is the one you will like. It seems simple enough to make. —Annie

BEER BISCUITS

4 cups biscuit mix
4 tablespoons sugar
2 cup beer

Combine the biscuit mix and sugar. Add the beer and mix until just moist. Spoon the mixture into lightly greased muffin tins. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Makes 24 biscuits.

Dear Annie,

This might sound like a weird request. Have you ever made olive soup? My Granny used to make it all the time. I never asked her for the recipe, so I am out of luck. Have you ever seen a recipe for olive soup?

—Johnny from Greensboro, NC

PICKS OF THE MONTH

Black Mirror: Season 6 (TV-MA) — Ah, Black Mirror, how deeply you were missed. Four years after the last season of the sci-fi anthology series premiered, fans are finally getting a new season, this time taking viewers to five different mind-bending realities in five separate episodes. One episode, titled "Joan Is Awful," follows an average woman named Joan who discovers that a major streaming platform has made a TV adaptation of her life... starring Salma Hayek. Another episode — "Demon 79" — centers on a sales assistant who is forced to commit heinous acts to stop disaster from striking. All episodes are available to stream now. (Netflix)

And Just Like That... : Season 2 (TV-MA) — For the next few Thursdays stretching into August, season two of the Sex and the City sequel series, "And Just Like That..." will be occupying our television screens. Of course, more drama is headed the ladies' way, with Charlotte (Kristin Davis) having to deal with qualms about her daughter, Lily, growing up too quickly. A year after Big's death, Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) is learning to love again, perhaps with a certain old flame (Aidan Shaw), while Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) is still going strong with her partner, Che. But the most shocking dramatic moment of all is the return of Kim Cattrall as fan-favorite Samantha! After being adamant about not wanting to return for any more sequels, Cattrall will be featured in just one scene during the season two finale. (And just like that ... she's back!) The first two episodes premiere June 22. (Max)

Wildflower (R) — Kiernan Shipka (Chilling Adventure of Sabrina) leads this new coming-of-age film premiering June 23. Shipka stars as Bea, a senior in high school who's had a very non-traditional way of growing up. Since she had two disabled parents, Bea often switched between the "daughter" role and the "caretaker" role, and she grapples with the fact that she must make plans for her future with her parents' well-being in the back of her mind. It's ultimately up to her to find the right balance in her life with her family before she walks across that graduation stage. Alexandra Daddario (The White Lotus) and Jacki Weaver (Yellowstone) also co-star in the film. (Hulu)
