STORIES FROM THE REAL WORLD & CYBERSPACE

Bingo with Vanna White
 Head of Fortune game-show personality Vanna White is set to be on hand when six R.C. non-for-profit organizations unite to present a BIG BINGO event on the floor of the PNE Coliseum the weekend of Oct. 1-2, where up to $1 million could be won. The biggest prizes on B.I.Z. Bingo history are promised at the event, presented by Hastings Racecourse. The charities involved are Variety, the Children's Chorus of BC, the Central Park Association of BC, CENX Kids' Fund, Coast Mental Health Foundation, the CENTRO and West Coast Kids' Cancer Foundation. This event is like BINGO on steroids with amazing jackpots, celebrity MC, live entertainers, grand food and beverages, and the appearance of TV game show host, Vanna White," said Howard Hahn, Point Blank Entertainment CEO.

Choctaw Casinos Celebrate
 After 35 years of gaming, Choctaw Casinos and Resorts celebrated its anniversary in northwestern Oklahoma this past August. The Choctaw gave away $5 million in cash and offered a special anniversary hotel rate. The casino also hosted bowling and bingo, a nod to its beginnings. Some folks may not remember the Bingo hall that once stood in northwestern Oklahoma 35 years ago. But Justin Dillard's "We built high-tech Bingos," Dillard said basically because that's all the tribe could afford. Eventually, it started to double in casino gaming. A lot has changed since then. Dillard began working for the tribe in 1982. In 1997, she became a sales manager for the Choctaw Dine Nation, 28,000-square-foot of space that attracted Oklahoma and Texas.

Since then Choctaw has added a 100,000-square-foot casino and hotel and done live major expansion projects, including The Sky Tower, a $60 million, 21-story luxury tower that opened in 2021. Today Choctaw's Durant location is massive, and it's still growing into the surrounding areas. Two hours east, Hochatown, near Broken Bow, Choctaw is also building a $165 million resort.

Big Win at Buzz
 A local bingo player has taken home a whopping 2,500,000 at Buzz Bingo in Hull, Australia. The winner is a regular member at the Buzz Bingo on Oak Road. They were stunned by the huge win and said: "I never expected this would happen to me." The winner plans to spend their prize money on visiting relatives in Australia as well as treating their grandchildren. Lisa Jordan, the general manager at Buzz Bingo Hull, said she was delighted to have such a big winner at the Hull venue. "We couldn't be happier for our lucky winner and their fantastic win. The National Bingo Game is played in Bingo clubs across the UK, so for us to have the winner in our club is just fantastic. Everyone was cheering from their seats—it was such an exciting moment."

Handbag Bingo Nets Big Bucks
 The Hartman County Health Care Foundation held its third annual Designer Handbag Bingo this past summer, with almost 500 participants enjoying the event, during which twenty-five women walked away with new purses. Thanks to the spouses, donors, participants and volunteers, approximately $35,000 was raised through the event.

Lucky Lotto News

Record-Setting Scratcher

A man from Auburn, California recently won $20 million, the largest cash prize in California Lottery history for a scratch ticket. Record-breaking winner Chad Fry said he bought the ticket at a grocery store when he found out he'd won the massive prize. After going out to pick up more groceries earlier that day, Fry bought the Set for Life Millionaire Edition ticket at the FoodMart store he goes to. The $30 ticket is far more expensive than most, but Fry said he decided to splurge on the ticket since he'd just been paid. "I had been waiting months for those people to pay me!" Fry said that while he was at the counter, he just decided to go for it. "It grabbed my eye...and that was it!" he recalled. Before he went back home, Fry stopped to get some groceries, and while he was still in the parking lot, he decided he couldn't wait any longer. "I scratched the first line, got halfway through the second [line] and saw [the word] LIFE!" Fry recalled. Set for Life Millionaire Edition winners can choose between two options: annual payments of $80,000 before federal taxes for 25 years or a lump sum payment of $11.6 million before taxes. Fry chose the lump sum as he plans to buy a new truck.

The Dog Ate My Ticket

A couple in Oregon is now $1 million after a lottery ticket their dog ate their puppy on turned out to be a winner. Although lottery officials have seen "tickets in many different states," even they had never seen one get torn up by two Alaskan Klee Kai dogs, according to a release from the Oregon Lottery. "For some reason we left the ticket on the ottoman and they decided to eat it," Rachel Lamm—the couple's shires dog Apple, 11 months, and Jack,

2, with her husband Nathan—said in a new video. "I was in bed and when I woke up it was eaten to the point that I thought it was unable to be checked," Rachel added. "But my husband thought it was hilarious and someone might get a good laugh. He said it's for sure a winner!" The couple decided to send in what was left of the ticket along with a photo of their four-legged companions and a note explaining what had occurred. The Oregon Lottery allows people to send in their winning tickets by mail, which can take about 10 business days to process. Fortunately, the Oregon Lottery was able to reconstruct the ticket, and as it turned out, the $1.6 million Gold Crossword turned out to be a $8 million—and not-broke was more surprised than the couple themselves. "That's too funny," Rachel said in a statement, adding that they're using the money to buy more toys for the dogs. "We love them, but they are crazy sometimes," she added.

Happy Anniversary!

One North Carolina couple received an anniversary gift that likely won't be topped anytime soon. Kenneth Smith and his wife were celebrating their second wedding anniversary at a beach with local news when one of Smith's friends suggested he buy a $100 Million Mega Cash ticket from Calabash Food and Fuel, according to the NC Education Lottery. After buying the scratcher ticket, Smith discovered he had won $100,000. Smith said he took everyone in their group to breakfast that morning before collecting his prize at the lottery headquarters the following Friday. After taxes, Smith and his wife were able to net $71.9 million to the lucky ticket, per lottery officials. Smith said he'd like to use the winnings on home renovations, including building a fence for the couple's 7-week-old dachshund puppy.

Frozen Lemonade Concentrate Is Surprisingly Versatile

I'm always on the lookout for inexpensive ingredients that can be used in lots of recipes. I'm especially happy when I find unexpected uses for a common ingredient. I was wandering the frozen foods aisle and I did a double take on a cone of frozen lemonade. The check began to tingle.

I used frozen juice concentrate in the freezer all the time. Lemonade is a particular favorite because it's a useful ingredient for many different beverages and much more.

Some beverage ideas: Add sweeteners, stabilizers or emulsifiers to make fruitfully lemonade. Add mirin or basil for a sophisticated twist. Mix lemonade with different soft drinks, like lemon-scented or ginger ale, for bubbly treats. Or mix with food to make an Arnold Palmer.

How about dessert? Since frozen is as frozen does, here's the classic frozen lemonade ice box pie. Remember that one?

LEMONADE ICE BOX PIE

1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk
1 (12-ounce) container whipped topping, thawed
1 (6-ounce) can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
1 (9-ounce) graham cracker crust

In a mixing bowl, blend the first three ingredients. Pour the mixture into the pie crust and freeze until solid. Tart and creamy, cold and dreamy.

But here's where I got excited! I thought, what is frozen lemonade? It's a concentrate of lemon juice, citrus pulp, lemon oil and sugar. You know what else uses those ingredients? Marinades. Especially marinades for chicken and pork. I can tell your skepticism. Check with me!

I went all "mad scientist" in the kitchen and played around until I came up with two marinade recipes that fit my taste testers here. I promise, they're not sweet! There are no winners.

Both recipes make 1 cup of potent marinade, enough for 3-4 pounds of your preferred chicken pieces.

By reading these books or visiting their web sites, you'll learn what the ER's are for different video poker games based on their pay schedule. Two good video poker books that I can recommend are Fragile Video Poker by Jean Scott and Viktor Nache, and Video Poker for the Intelligent Beginner by Bob Dawson.

Once you decide which video poker game you want to play (presumably one with at least a 90% or higher ER), you need to check if the game is available at your local casino. To do this, go to www.spf2.com and check the region you are interested in (e.g., Las Vegas, Gulf Coast, East, etc.). You'll get a listing of the video poker games with the highest ERs for each casino in that region.

Tip No. 2: Learn the basic playing strategy in order to achieve the high ERs. You have to learn the basic playing strategy. This is not as hard as you think. You'll find the basic strategy for different video poker games in the above books or websites (e.g., www.winwheelofchance.com). However, the best way to learn the strategy is to bring a video poker computer software program. When you make a playing mistake, the software will alert you and show you what the correct play is. The software will also track playing accuracy and show you how much playing error you cost.

Tip No. 3: You should bring a video poker strategy card that contains the playing strategy with you to the casino. These strategy cards are available and you can refer to them if you are not sure how to play a hand. If you're there with you, you'll always play at 100% accuracy.

Tip No. 4: Always sign up for a casino's player's card and use it every time you play video poker. You'll get cash back or free play, comps, and mullers from the casino that usually contain more free play offers. These benefits will boost your overall return from playing video poker to at or slightly above 100%, if you are over 100%, you'll be playing with an edge.

What are you waiting for? Make a goal to get started learning how to be a smart video poker player. You'll never look back once you do it.

LEMON, ROSEMARY AND GARLIC MARINADE

6 ounces frozen lemonade concentrate
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1 tablespoon garlic cloves, crushed (or minced)
1 1/2 teaspoons fresh rosemary, minced (or 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary)
1/2 teaspoon onion powder

In a gallon-size resealable food storage bag, combine lemonade concentrate, Worcestershire, vinegar, garlic, rosemary and onion powder. Add chicken pieces, seal the bag and smash to blend. Marinate in refrigerator for 1 hour or, even better, overnight. Optional - before you add the chicken, reserve 1/4 cup of marinade and mix with 1 cup plain yogurt to make a delicious sauce for the chicken.

LEMON, GINGER AND SOY MARINADE

6 ounces frozen lemonade concentrate
1/4 cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons fresh ginger, grated
1 tablespoon garlic cloves, crushed
1/2 teaspoon black pepper, freshly ground

In a gallon-size resealable food storage bag, combine lemonade concentrate, soy sauce, ginger, garlic and pepper. Add chicken pieces, seal bag and smash to blend. Marinate in refrigerator at least 1 hour or overnight.

To cook the chicken - Preheat oven to 375 F. Bake for 20-25 minutes to until the internal temperature reaches 165 F. You can also grill, broil or pan fry this chicken.

Please note: lemonade concentrate comes in two sizes: 6 and 12 ounces. These recipes call for 6 ounces, so you may get two recipes from one can. When buying concentrate, purchase brands that have 100% natural freeze-dried fruit. They're not cut a few cents more, but it's truly worth it.

Video Poker Tips

No. 1: Play video poker games that have the highest Expected Return (ER). Expected Return (ER) is a percentage that tells the theoretical amount of money you can expect to win in the long run assuming you play every hand perfectly. The most important variable that determines the ER in the game's pay schedule. For example, a Jack or Better game that returns 9 times the amount bet for a full house and 6 times for a flush (known as a 9/6 game) has an ER of 99.54%, meaning over time a skillful player can expect to get back 99.54% of the money bet. This assumes that the player is using the basic playing strategy for this game (i.e., as many non-playing mistakes). You'll often find Jacks or Better games that pay 8/5 or worse 7/5 for the full house/flush. The corresponding ERs for these games are 97.5% and 96.15% respectively and a skillful player would never play these games.

How do you know what the ER is for any video poker game? After all, the casino manager isn't going to tell you which game his casino has a high ER and which ones have low ERs. No, that's the player's responsibility to figure out. However, that's OK because it's quite easy to learn what the ER is for any video poker game.

Many video poker books and internet sites list the ERs for different video poker

Standing In

Kate frequently helps me with research for my writing, once she was caught trying to get out of a dumb waiter in an old hotel just to use it as a thing made possible for a private eye I was working about. The staff member who caught her was not sympathetic; he researched and she was asked to leave and not return.

Another time she spent 24 hours in a wheelchair to experience the frustration of not being able to reach pay phones, find a way to the hotel, get in and out of a bathroom. Her enthusiasm and nerve are hard to match and have been invaluable help. I think our best personal might disagree.

The other night at Bingo the lady who sat next to me suddenly got up between games and went to stand by a window, her left arm and hand raised as high as she could get them. Until that moment, I had thought her quite ordinary, but clearly there was a different side to her. No one appeared to ask her what, if anything, was wrong. Her face took on a solemn look and she stood very still.

"Should I play her cards?" I asked Kate.
"Of course," Kate replied, "It is what you would want someone to do for you if you had to go stand..." her voice trailed off. Neither of us had any idea why she was standing there.

Naturally one of her cards won so I carefully put the money with her other papers. The standing lady still stood very quietly except that her left hand now dropped over the upright arm. Players kept stealing quick looks at her and then looking courteously away.

"Her name is Carolyn," I said, having looked at some of her papers.

We played on, frequently checking Carolyn, who continued to stand motionless.

Our friend, Janey, came over and asked about her. "Do you know who the girl?" we both shook our heads. "I wonder if that position helps good?" We both admitted we had no idea. "Looks like an old game of Statues," said Janey, "only no one else is playing."

At the end of play, after most of the players left, Carolyn came quietly back to her seat, picked up her papers and ushers and prepared to leave. "Where did this money come from?" she asked quietly.

"You mean that," I replied. "I played your cards and you won."
"You must know," she said, holding out the money to me. "You won a... I don't..."

"They were your cards," I objected. We ended the disagreement by putting her winnings in the tip jar for the caller and workers—no doubt the biggest tip they had received in ages. Carolyn waved and walked away, she returned to say, "I have a nerve disorder that is sometimes alleviated by cleaning my arm and hand. Hope you didn't freak you out."
Then she was gone. I look forward to seeing her again.

R.E.D.

by Mike Marjano

Sunflowers were revered among native Americans and used as medicine and food sources. They are still very popular today. Basic guidelines for growing them include using rich, well-drained, alkaline-to-neutral soil in a location that receives 5-8 hours of sunlight. Watering must be consistent, and give the soil around it nitrogen-rich fertilizer every 2 weeks. The tallest sunflower on record was grown in 2014 in Germany, reaching 30 feet.

"SAVY SENIOR"

YOU ASK THE SENIOR QUESTION

— WE FIND THE SAVY ANSWERS

Daily Check-In Service

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you recommend any services that check in on elderly residents who live alone? I live about 200 miles from my 82-year-old mother and worry about her falling or getting ill and not being able to get help.

—Merryword Daughter

Dear Worrywart,

There are actually several different types of check-in services, along with some simple technology devices that can help keep your mom safe at home while providing you some peace of mind. Here are some top options to look into.

Check-In app: If your mom uses a smartphone, a great solution to help ensure her safety is using an app (e.g., InSafeLife.com), a free app that would check in on her every day to confirm she's OK. This app is used by thousands of elderly residents who live alone and want to make sure that if something happens to them, their loved ones will be notified quickly so they can receive help in minutes, rather than days.

Here's how it works: After downloading the app, your mom will receive a push notification at those times asking your mom to check in by tapping the big green check button on her smartphone screen. If she doesn't check in within 30 minutes or responds after multiple pings, Sing will notify her emergency contacts and share her last known location so that she can receive fast help.

For extra peace of mind, your mom can purchase Sing's premium plan ($10 per month) in addition to receiving her emergency contact, Sing will respond in an average of about 10 minutes by a police officer who will visit her house to confirm she's OK and provide assistance as needed. The app works with iPhone and Android smartphones.

Check-In calls: If your mom doesn't use a smartphone, another option to help ensure her safety is a daily check-in call service program. These are telephone-reinsurance programs usually run by police or sheriff's departments in municipalities in a number of states and are usually provided free of charge.

Here's how they work: A computer automated phone system would call your mom at a designated time each day to check in. If she answers, the system will assume everything is OK. But if she doesn't pick up or if the call goes to voice mail after repeated tries, you (or whoever her emergency contact would get a notification call. If you are not reachable, calls are then made to backup people who have also agreed to check on your mom if necessary.

The drawback is if no one can be reached, the police or other emergency services personnel will be dispatched to her home.

To find out if this service is available to your mom's community, call her local police department's non-emergency number. You should also check with the Area Agency on Aging in your mom's area - call 800-677-1115 for contact information.

If, however, her community doesn't have a call check-in program, there are businesses like CARE (Call-Reassurance.com) and JaniFine (janifine.com) that offer similar services for under $35 per month.

Technology devices: You may also want to invest in some simple technology aids to keep your mom safe. One of the most commonly used devices for this is a medical alert system that cost about $1 per day. These systems come with a wearable "help button" that would allow her to call for help 24/7.

Another option that's becoming increasingly popular is smart speakers, like Amazon Alexa or Google Home. These devices work with third-party applications - AskMyBuddy.net and My905Family.com - that would allow your mom to call multiple emergency contacts with a simple verbal command.

And be sure to check out Amazon's Alexa Together (Amazon.com) or Google's Family Link (google.com) as well. Both subscription service that helps families support and keep tabs on their older loved ones who live alone through an Alexa-enabled device.

Edis (PG-13) — The new biopic film about Edis Presley leading from director Eli Laibson (The Goshawk and William Shakespeare's Romeo) is quite new available to rent or purchase on Amazon Video. Austin Butler gives a stirring performance as the King of Rock & Roll while having immersed himself deeply into the character for years leading up to the film's release. The film explores Edis' humble beginnings, the life-changing influence that the rhythm and blues genre had on him, as well as his ill-fated relationship with his manager, Col. Tom Parker. With eye-catching visual effects and a lead score who will surely be remembered this coming season, Edis is an unforgettable take. (Prime Video)

The End is Nye (NR) — A Peacock original docu-series featuring Bill Nye the Science Guy (just released in first season). He has signature light-colored visor-tinted face. Bill Nye takes on his hypothetical apocalyptic disasters and provides a science-based solution to survive every single one. Whether it's a super-volcano eruption, live hurricanes circulating Earth in the same time or a comet plunging into the planet, Bill Nye has all the science humanity could take to save our home. He underscores climate change and how we need to alter our relationship with the planet we call home so that we have a better chance for future generations. (Peacock)

Incantation (TV-MA) — Is this haunting Taiwanese horror film, a woman named Ronan (Vivian Yu), along with her boyfriend, Daniel, and their cousin, Yvan, venture into into the village of the Chen clan. While staying in the village overnight, there was an unexplained cause onto themselves, prompting their overnight stay to be terrifying. Ronan, who finds out she's pregnant during the show, is the only one to survive. After giving birth to her daughter, Della, Ronan stays her up to foster care, while she stays a psychiatrist for ways to cope. When Ronan returns, care of Della again six years later, Della starts seeing visions, and Ronan realizes the cause continues to live on. (Netflix)

Slots Q&A

Q: Are the slot machines used in tournament play typical slot machines?
A: No. The slot machines in tournament play are super loose. And the only real strategy for playing them is to hit the open buttons as fast as you can. You might end up with slot machine carpal tunnel syndrome, but the winner of a slot tournament is the one who wins the most credits. So fast, faster, fastest is the best way to play in a tournament.

Q: How long should a slot playing session last?
A: To avoid slot combat fatigue, keep your playing sessions short. Two hours is the suggested maximum playing time without some type of break. Lacking at buttons longer than that not only invites carpal tunnel syndrome, it works havoc with your ability to think. And a frayed mind becomes easily discouraged and leads to foolish, careless play.

Here are some helpful break activities: Sleep, stretch, play tennis, eat, eat lunch or dinner, take a longer shower, visit another casino, relax by or take a dip in the pool. Frequent breaks not only help you feel better, you'll play better. And see if you can't win more often.

Q: Do the casinos win all the time?
A: No. If the casinos win all the time they would soon be out of business. For you would want to play in a place where you lose all the time? At any given time, there are lots of people who are ahead of the game. But most of them end up getting it all back in, so, in the long run the casinos will come out ahead—but they don't always win.

Sweet (Potato) Birthday Surprise

Dear Ask Annie,
My husband loves sweet potatoes. Do you know any recipes with sweet potatoes as the main ingredient? I want to surprise him for his birthday next month. Thank you!

Party Fun from Flamingo

Dear Patii Ann,
Here are two recipes with sweet potatoes. Hope they enjoys them. Stay safe and healthy.—Annie

SWEET POTATO PUDDING

- 2 cups grated sweet potato
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup maple syrup
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine melted
- 2 eggs, separated and beaten
- 1 pint milk
- 1 pint water
- 1/2 cup raisins, dried with flour
- cranberries, cloves, nutmeg

Mix in order given, except the stiffly beaten egg whites, which go in last. Season with raisins, cranberries, cloves and nutmeg. Bake thoroughly in 325-degree oven for at least 1 1/2 hours. Serve with hard sauce made of 1 large spoonful butter or margarine beaten with granulated sugar and seasoned with brandy or cherry. Serves 6 to 8.

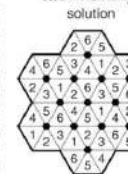

SWEET POTATO PIE

- 3 large sweet potatoes
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 4 pastry shells
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 egg
- 2 egg whites
- 4 teaspoons sugar

Boil potatoes until soft. Peel and mash with 2 tablespoons butter. Add sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and egg, well beaten. Fill cooked pastry shell and cover with meringue made of beaten egg whites and 4 teaspoons of sugar. Brown in medium oven. Serves 6.

Your comments and questions about cooking and entertaining will be addressed in this monthly column. Write to "Ask Annie" c/o Ask Annie, 17050 SE 91st Avenue, The Villages, FL 32152. So Ask Annie. Don't forget you can E-mail me at annieb@thevillages.net. And let's get cooking.

Getting Out of the Way

By Jonathan Little

When facing a raise and a three-bet, it is important that you understand how tightly you should play based on your opponent's ranges. In the most extreme situation, when a tight player raises from first position and another tight player three-bets from second position, you should fold every hand besides A-A and K-K. This may seem counterintuitive, but J-J for example only has 35% equity against two reasonable ranges and is a especially bad shape against two strong ranges. If you four-bet with J-J and all the money goes in against one opponent, you will be against only premium hands, which J-J has 50% equity against.

Playing for all the money with 30% equity is not where you want to be. Sure, you will make your opponent fold some small portion of the time, but most of the time, you will be crushed. Do not fall into the awful habit of thinking that you "must" go broke every time you have a traditionally strong hand. The factor that determines your hand's value is the ranges you are up against. If you are against only premium hands, you need an incredibly strong hand to enter the pot.

In the most versus normal players with 75 big blind effective stacks, when faced with an early position raise to three big blinds and a three-bet from another early position player to nine big blinds, I suggest you four-bet to 21 big blinds with A-A, K-K, Q-Q and A-K, and be willing to get all-in with all of them. You should fold everything else, including J-J and A-Q (although four-bet bluffing with A-Q may be fine). Calling a three-bet to not a great option because you will have a difficult time playing your hand after the flop.

Imagine you called instead of folding from middle position with A-Q. The flop comes Q-7-5. The three-bet bets and you call. If you face any additional aggression on the turn or river, it is safe to assume you are against top pair, top kicker or a better hand because you will have a difficult time playing your hand after the flop.

If you are folding this hand, you are folding almost every hand in your range, making you easy to run over. The same holds true for when you call with J-J and the flop comes three tens under cards. Instead of getting involved in this situation that has given reverse implied odds (meaning you will either win a small pot or lose a large pot), simply fold.

You may be thinking that it is an only four-betting with the nuts, then our opponents can exploit us by folding every time. While that is true, remember that we are laying them excellent pot odds to call before the flop by four-betting somewhat small to 21 big blinds. If our opponents fold hands like 10-10 and J-10s, they are folding hands that are getting roughly the right price to call.

You may be wondering why I advocate four-betting A-K and getting all-in with it because A-K is a really decent 3-bet to three versus a premium all-in range. The problem with folding since you put in 21 out of over 75 big blind stack is that you only need to win 34% of the time to break even. Against an extremely strong range of only J-J and A-K, your A-K will win 40% of the time. When you only need to win 34% of the time and you will win 40% of the time, you cannot justify folding, unless you are on the bubble of a tournament. So the only other time you should consider folding A-K is if that you are against the super-tight range of Q-Q and A-Ks.

Simply put, when multiple players clearly want to put a lot of chips in the pot, unless your hand is extremely strong, fold and wait for a better spot.

BOB ON BINGO

By Bob Whitmore

Why Can't People Behave?

Hi, again, everyone. I hope your summer went well and you are ready for more months of the games we all love the best. I have been getting a lot of e-mail feedback: bobbing@journalink.net. But I am happy to announce that I have a new e-mail address. It's simpler than the old one: bingo@journalink.net. Now, you will never forget it.

So, here is the latest from the mailing, Diane E., of Cleveland writes: "Dear Bob I am becoming more and more upset at the way some of the regular Bingo players at the non-profit where I play are acting. I know many of them have been here since they Open, but they are getting nasty."

"Recently, many of the players have been heckling one of the callers. He is a very articulate older fellow who enjoys what he is doing. As a matter of fact, he is the OPPOSITE of being 'cray and droid' about what he does. Now and then, he throws in short comments. And, Bob, as you have often mentioned, he gives nicknames to some of the numbers. But, some of the players have been yelling at him to HURRY UP."

Q: My daughter's name is Kelly, and when she was a toddler, I started buying a small doll named Kelly that was Barbie's "big sister." They were sold for about $5 each. If I remember correctly, I bought a dozen of them over the years, putting them immediately into a box for safekeeping. They've never been opened. Are they just a fun remembrance of her childhood, or will they be worth something in the future?

A: The 3-and-a-half preschool doll Kelly was marketed as the younger sister of Barbie, Skipper and Stacie. Kelly was introduced in 1975 and retired in 2010. She was replaced by Chelsea in 2011. She was dressed in Halloween costumes, Christmas dresses and St. Patrick's Day green for the holidays. She was sold both separately and in bins with a Barbie. Sale prices for the box Kellys are between $25 and $35 online.

Q: I read that there's a new comedy series called Alvin's billing from the same creator as Flamingo. I was a big fan of that show, but I can't find Spring anywhere. Is it coming out this fall? —L.T.

A: The new wacky comedy from Greg Garcia (Ally Vase in Earl and Estelle Zerkow) can be streamed on the Fxveer app (formerly known as the IMDb app). Visit Amazon.com/ally-veer-about if you have trouble finding it.

Spring takes place at the beginning of the pandemic, when some prison-credited offenders of non-violent crimes early to help stop the spread of the coronavirus. Raising Hope stars Ginnifer Gooden and Martha Plimpton are a part of the cast, alongside Phillip Garcia (Criminal Mind's joint Siskin Rivera (LLOYD). The franchise coast to a life of crime once again, only this time their targets aren't the innocent, instead, they only go after the duplicitous, including a price gouger of essential items like toilet paper and a medical professional who falsifies COVID results for monetary gain.
